About Us

In 1996, Clive Beddoe and a team of like-minded partners started WestJet a Calgary based company with 3 aircraft, 5 destinations and 220 friendly Westjetters. Since our first flight in 1996, we've sought to enrich the lives of everyone in our world by providing safe, friendly, and affordable air travel. Right from the start, we put our guests and our people first; in doing so, we've become one of Canada's most admired and respected corporate cultures. We've also had a lot of fun along the way.

Today we operate 5 different aircraft types and fly to more than 110 destinations in North America, Central America, The Caribbean, Europe and Asia. We stay true to our principles and continue to strive for the highest standards of service and success.

WestJet's strategic growth plans

In 2023, WestJet announced and began implementing its new strategic direction, which sees the airline embrace its historical roots to secure future success. WestJet's focus is on restructuring its network and maintaining a low-cost structure to ensure competitiveness and affordability for its guests. The airline is also investing in technology and embarking on a digital transformation to improve the guest experience.

While this strategy will help drive future growth, it will also mean a consistent, superior experience for travellers. The airline wants guests to choose WestJet because it's the friendly, reliable and affordable airline they know and love.

WestJet is proud to welcome its first destination in Asia to its network: Tokyo, Japan.

We're offering non-stop three-times weekly seasonal service between Tokyo-Narita and Calgary, Alberta beginning in April 2023. WestJet will be the only airline providing transpacific service to Asia direct from Alberta on our Boeing 787 Dreamliner. From our home base in Calgary, you can easily connect to other Canadian and US destinations in WestJet's network.
